Park Hanky Panky At Top?

Schools Enroll August 29-30

Enrollment of students in the Canyon Independent School District will be conducted August 29-30 at the respective schools of the district and the first day of classes will be September 3. The first day of school will begin at 8:30 a.m. with a full day of classroom activity. School busses will be operated for the first time this school term and lunches will be served.

Say Street Improvement Progressing

Work on the widening of several streets in Canyon is progressing "real good," said Mayor Paul Lindsey and black toping should begin within a few days.

Workmen on the project, that includes widening of Fifth, Third and Second Avenues, was expected to include black toping on Fifth Avenue earlier this week but small showers Sunday hampered progress for a few days.

A $200,000 bond issue for the widening of several streets and improving water drainage facilities was sanctioned by Canyon voters April 2. Approximate figures call for $37,000 for the water drainage, with the remainder of the $200,000 to be used for widening several streets to facilitate the flow of traffic.

The project approved includes widening 17th St. on Fifth Avenue east to 28th St.; 14th St. and Fourth Avenue north to Third Avenue; east on Third Avenue to 17th St.; and south to Fourth Avenue; and on Second Avenue between 21st and 23rd St.

The widening from 17th St. on Fifth Avenue east to 28th St. will be from an existing 31 foot street to a 44 foot street, the mayor said.

The project on Fifth, Third and Second Avenues should be completed by the early part of September, he said.

Work will also be progressing on the side streets to be paved. Recently added to the paving program will be Sixth through Eighth Avenues on 27th St.

Seal coating of about 30 blocks should start next week, the mayor added.

The street widening, which has involved moving the curb lines about seven and one-half feet on each side, is about the same distance as across the width of two parked cars.

Contractor for all the street work this year is Lewis Construction Company of Dumas.

district should report to the principal's office of the school which they will attend. Incoming students should provide the principals with a statement from the doctor showing immunization against smallpox, diphtheria, measles and polio, a birth certificate, and a transcript of grades.

At Canyon High School, two days will be devoted to registration with seniors slated to register from 8:30 until noon on August 29 and juniors from 1:30 p.m. until 4:30 p.m. that afternoon. Sophomores will register from 8:30 a.m. until noon on Friday, August 30. A student activity fee of $2 will be required with registration and all past due accounts of students for the 1967-68 term must be paid prior to registration.

Each high school student must pay laboratory fees on the day of registration. Fees are set at $3 per year for Shop I and II, shorthand, physics, mechanical drawing, chemistry, biology and art. Fees of $2 per year will be charged for student activity and drama. Typing I will have a fee of $5 per year and per semester fees for Typing II and Business Machines will be $2.50.

High school enrollment procedures will be explained in the high school auditorium. Senior pictures will be made August 23 and letters with specific information will be mailed to senior students.

At Canyon Junior High, the registration will be conducted with 7th grade students reporting to the school at 9 a.m. Thursday, 8th grade students at 2 p.m. Thursday, and 9th grade students at 9 a.m. on Friday, August 30.

Students should bring census cards, a $2 fee for assembly programs, student handbooks (See SCHOOLS, Page 3)

Convocation At WT Aug. 22

Convocation ceremonies for about 350 students at West Texas State University will be conducted Aug. 22 in the Fieldhouse at 8 p.m.

Speaker for the affair will be Dr. James McCrackin, who was recently appointed temporary under secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in Washington, D. C.

Dr. McCrackin is on leave as president of South West Texas State College.

James P. Cornette, WTSU president, with confer degrees and Lt. Col. Billy Smith, head of the Reserve Officer Training Corp., will present degrees to ROTC cadets.

Classifieds Get Results

"Kill my classified ad," Doug Marshall told The Canyon News Monday. "They're driving me crazy."

Marshall's ad ran one time. He reported 23 calls on it.

WTSU Housing Said Filled Up

There is no available on-campus housing for coeds planning to attend West Texas State University this fall and very few dormitories have facilities left for male students.

Dr. T. Paige Carruth, WTSU dean of student life, said the women's residence halls have been reserved since the first of the summer and only about 20 to 30 rooms for male students are available.

The university presently has on-campus facilities for about 1,015 men and 950 women and has already been aiding students who desire off-campus living quarters.

With a new regulation becoming effective this fall, the university has no rules governing where students may reside as long as parents approve.

"We have pulled off all our approval of off-campus housing," Dr. Carruth said.

The housing situation, the dean said, is about the same as was experienced by WTSU officials last fall when some 200 male students were residing in off-campus housing because of a lack of on-campus facilities.

There has been a small increase noted, however, in the number of women students planning to attend WTSU this fall.

Classes officially begin Sept. 16 but students will begin moving to the dormitories when they open Sept. 8, the dean added. Registration begins Sept. 11.

Dr. Carruth said while there would be problems concerning student parking, the situation compared with other institutions was not serious.

"We have a lot of parking, but not all of it is convenient parking," Dr. Carruth explained. (See HOUSING, Page 7)

ONE OF THREE operable steam engines in the Tri-State area will be featured in the Happy celebration Saturday. The 1914 Model 65 Case Steam Engine, 65 horsepower, is owned by Bob Dowd who will enter it in the parade and have it on display during the activities.

Happy Roundup Saturday

A full slate of activities has been planned for the annual roundup and celebration for the Happy Community scheduled to begin at 9 a.m. with bicycle races Saturday.

Sponsored by the Happy civic organizations, parades, a barbecue, old timers awards and a western dance are only a portion of events scheduled for the day-long slate of events.

Reigning over the activities as Miss Happy will be Cheryl Schaeffer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Schaeffer of Happy. She will be a junior at Happy High School this fall.

Little Miss Happy is Dana Foster, six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Foster.

The two beauty pageant queens were selected last week to reign over activities Saturday.

Following the bicycle races at 9 a.m., a beard judging contest will begin at 9:30 a.m. followed by a 10 a.m. parade down main street and a performance by sky divers at 11 a.m.

Oldtimers attending will be treated to a free barbecue lunch at Stephenson Park at 11:30 a.m. and regular barbecue lunch will be served for $1 per plate at noon.

Following old timers award ceremonies at 12:30 p.m. and the drawing for a riding lawn mower at 1 p.m., horse shoe pitching contests will be held.

Managers Needed

Coach Dunny Goode, head coach for the Canyon Eagles, this week announced that the team needs several boys to act as managers this season.

Any high school boy interested should contact Coach Goode either at his home or at the high school immediately.

Air plane rides will be available at the Happy Air Field from 2 until 4 p.m. and jumper races are slated on main street at 2 p.m.

A pony express race is scheduled at 3 p.m. and Arney will meet Salem for a baseball game at 5 p.m.

Concluding the activities Saturday will be a western dance from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. in the American Legion Building. Championship roping contests are scheduled Sunday at 2 p.m. in the Tom Henry Arena.

A carnival, featuring booths, games and rides, will be open from 1 until 7 p.m. Saturday.

CHS OFFERING VO EDUCATION

A Vocational Office Education program will be offered to Canyon High School students in September, according to Mrs. Jackie McAlpin who will be teacher-coordinator for the project.

The VOE program is a one-year cooperative project for and Mrs. Ervin Podzemny of Amarillo. She is employed with Amarillo Savings and Loan Association in the accounting department.

Under the program, students receive technical and related instruction in a one-period class session each day and also supervised on-the-job work experience in an approved training position.

"Both the employer and the teacher-coordinator work to develop desirable personal-social traits which are necessary for successful office workers," Mrs. McAlpin said.

Students will receive a combination of individual and group instruction during the daily class period with time devoted to individualized supervised study of subject matter that is directly related to the occupational objective of each student.

Mrs. McAlpin said the course of study is geared to job requirements. (See CHS, Page 7)

Warrants Authorized

Randall County Commissioners Monday authorized the payment of $41,000 in warrants to the John Moss Construction Company of Amarillo for work on the courthouse annex now under construction.

Meeting with commissioners to explain details of the time warrant issuance was Bob Davis, representing Columbia Securities, Randall County financial advisors.

The courthouse annex, which will be completed later this year, will cost about $400,000 and includes two floors of office space for county employees.

Architects for the courthouse project are Clayton Shiver and Russell Megert of Amarillo.

In other action, commissioners approved a list of judges for the Nov. 5 general election.

Those judges, in order of their precincts, are Faye Canedy, Mrs. Erwin Davis, R. B. Gist, Jr., Melvin Schaeffer, Harold Erwin, C. M. Purcell, Mrs. Max Rarick, W. P. Janssen, Mary Minor, Mrs. J. J. Miller, Robert Skinner, Jr., Theo Lanier, Mrs. L. D. Hunnicutt, Bill Brown, Betty Sturquell, Emil Olsen, Mrs. D. M. Foster, Frank Begert, Mrs. J. A. Watson and Jack D. Jones.

Grand Jury Probe Is Set By Dowlen

BY TROY MARTIN

A Grand jury probe and investigation of a high ranking Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission official were in the mill this week.

Both came as an aftermath of allegations which caused the recent resignations or dismissal of four Palo Duro Canyon State Park employees.

Park supervisor Jerry Mullican resigned under fire Aug. 1.

Parks and Wildlife Department officials say he admitted having diverted gate receipts to a park petty cash fund but denied having appropriated any of the money to his own use.

Mullican has moved to Lubbock and could not be reached for comment early this week.

Mullican is reported to have told J. R. Singleton, Austin, executive director of Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission, and Paul Harris, San Angelo, regional supervisor, that the petty cash fund was maintained with the knowledge of Harold Allums, who was regional supervisor in San Angelo until November of last year.

Harris said Allums currently is under investigation.

Contacted by telephone Tuesday at Tyler, Allums denied any knowledge of the diversion of park gate receipts to a petty cash fund.

"It is surprising and stunning that something like this could happen," declared Allums.

Allums was regional supervisor in San Angelo from April 1966 to November of 1967.

Reports indicate that diversion of small amounts of gate receipts into a petty cash fund was practiced at Palo Duro State Park before Mullican became park supervisor there in mid-1966.

Harris and Singleton both say that investigation has so far not revealed any theft of funds. Rather there is evidence that the petty cash was spent for small needs often considered too trivial to warrant a state requisition.

Park employees say some of the money was spent for refreshments in which both Harris and Singleton shared even during their investigation at the park.

Park employees who resigned last week include Jo Retta Bloesser and Mike Wilson, both of Canyon, Ewing Clayton, Canyon, told The News he was fired.

Harris said the three lost their jobs for diverting gate receipts to the petty cash fund even though they did so on Mullican's orders.

Singleton Tuesday said the three used poor judgement and should have called Mullican's orders to the attention of Harris.

Harris admitted that the three had been offered the highest recommendations for other employment and had been told that they could return to work at the Park within a few weeks.

Harris praised Mike Wilson. "I don't think Mike is dishonest in any way," declared Harris. "We plan to re-employ him this fall. I'm going to write Mike a letter absolving him of any dishonesty in any way."

Harris was asked why he and Singleton saw fit to put a black mark on the records of three people, whom he says are honest, because they followed or

Bulletin

"The only thing I'm guilty of is getting so wrapped up in that park that I cut a little red tape to get things done," said former Palo Duro Canyon State Park Supervisor Jerry Mullican Wednesday afternoon.

"I didn't do anything dishonest,"

Mullican told The News he discussed the park petty cash fund with his immediate supervisor, Harold Allums, while Allums was regional supervisor at San Angelo.

"Can't you use petty cash for these little incidental expenditures?" he quoted Allums having asked him. He said Allums noted that if Austin were to find out about the use of petty cash officials there would not condone it but told him to go ahead and do it.

Mullican said a petty cash fund was in existence at the park when he took over as park supervisor some two years ago.

Eagle Tickets On Sale Here

Season tickets for Canyon High School Eagle home football games are on sale here at six locations for $8 each or $15 per couple, according to Coach Dunny Goode.

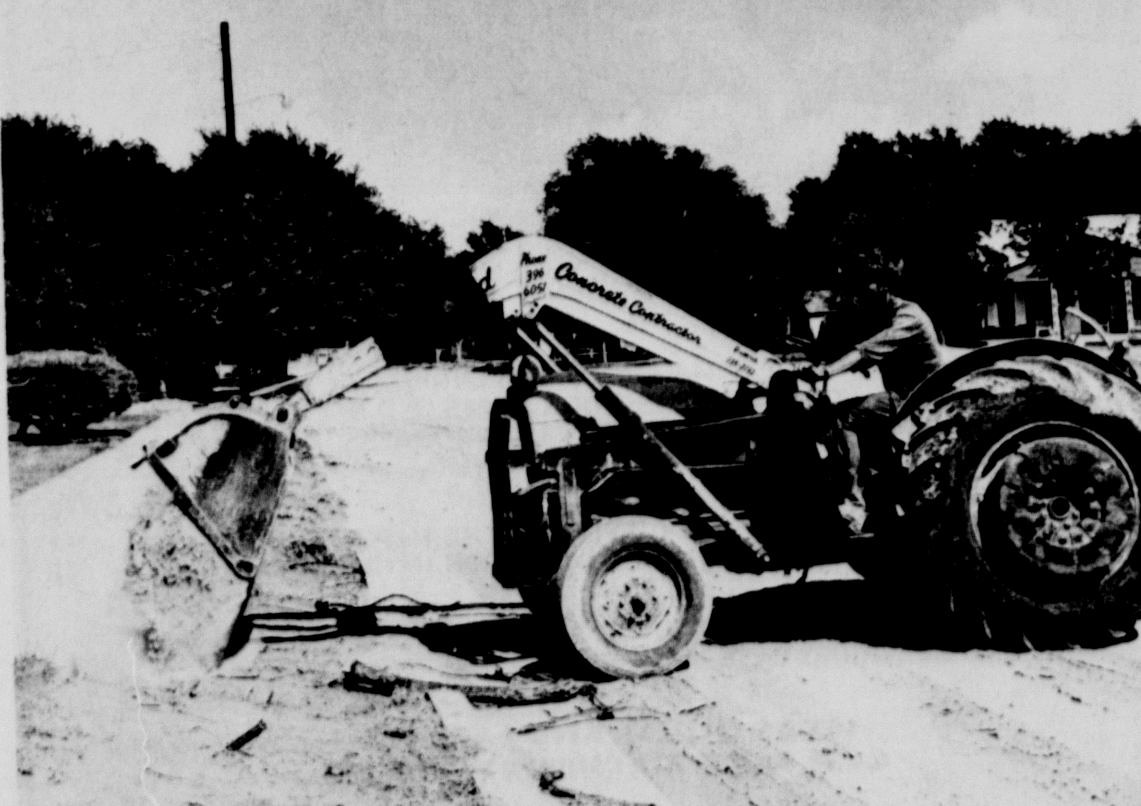

The tickets, which can be used for the five Eagle home games, also include a one-year membership in the Canyon Eagle Booster Club.

Tickets are available at the First National Bank, West Texas State Bank, The Pharmacy, Byrd Pharmacy, Humble Service Station and Canyon High School.

The Eagles will host Spearman Sept. 27 at 8 p.m. for their first home stand.

Jim Britton, assistant stage manager for "TEXAS", is shown here exhibiting a spur presented to the drama cast last week by a group from Spur. Spur is Britton's hometown. The spur shown here was made about 1875 and is of Spanish origin.

STREET CONSTRUCTION WORK here is progressing on Third, Fifth and Second Avenues and should be completed in early September. The project, which is being funded with bonds voted here April 2, includes widening some Canyon streets and paving others. Dumping dirt in a hole created by the widening process is Jimmy Ennis of Dumas, an employee of Lewis Construction Company of Dumas, contractors for the project.

FROM THE
CANYON RIM

Three young Canyon people were either forced to resign or were fired during the past few days at Palo Duro Canyon State Park for following orders of their superiors.

People who have worked at the park during the past few years say it's almost impossible to run the place without a petty cash fund.

This is largely because of an archaic system of requisitioning used by the Parks and Wildlife Commission.

Park supervisor Jerry Mullican admits he told three of his helpers on occasion to fail to give out receipts to cars entering the park and to take the entry fee and place it in a petty cash fund. His superiors admit that they have found no evidence that any of the fund was used other than to purchase small needed items for the park and occasionally for refreshments for park employees.

I understand that Mullican has indicated that a high ranking official of the Parks and Wildlife Commission knew of the kitty and how it was collected.

Paul Harris, regional supervisor from San Angelo, questioned Mullican's young subordinates. They said he told them they were in the clear.

Then when J. R. Singleton, executive director of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission, appeared on the scene, Attendants Ewing Clayton and Mike Wilson and Secretary Jo Retta Bloeser were given a choice to resign or be fired.

The young people were told by Singleton that they were guilty of "using bad judgement."

Well, if anyone used bad judgement it was the high command of the Parks and Wildlife Commission, namely Singleton himself. Since he was the boss, he was responsible for Mullican being at the park in the first place.

One of the first things I learned in the Army was that responsibility reflects upward, not downward.

A sergeant can never be held responsible for the shortcomings and bad judgement of his lieutenant. Neither can the sergeant blame his own failures on the corporal and the private.

This is exactly what Harris and Singleton attempted to do.

A complaint about the petty cash fund came in to the Parks and Wildlife Service and Harris and Singleton moved to protect themselves.

They came to Canyon and, in effect, fired three young people for carrying out orders given by a man they and their associates had placed in charge of the park.

I asked Singleton what the three should have done.

"They should have called Mr. Harris," he replied.

Then I asked what they should have done if Harris sanctioned the method used to divert gate fees into the petty cash fund.

"Then they should have called me," he declared.

I then stumped the executive director by asking if the three should have then called the Parks and Wildlife Board, John Connally and Lyndon Johnson in that order just to make certain that their superiors weren't giving them instructions that might get them fired.

The tip off that the Parks and Wildlife bureaucrats were trying to protect themselves came when the young people who were dismissed were told that they could return to the park service within a few weeks.

Harris told The News Monday that he "had nothing against those people."

If the investigation had been on the up and up and Mrs. Bloeser, Wilson and Clayton had really been guilty of a firing offense, does it make sense that the same people who fired them would be ready to place them back on the pay roll in two months?

It was ironic that Harris and Singleton made a big point that petty cash funds were used to purchase refreshments for park employees. At the very time they were on the scene investigating they were reported to have sipped refreshments bought with park petty cash and by their own reasoning they became accessories.

There is indication that the method used by Mullican for collecting petty cash is one that has been in use by the park for some time--long before Mullican appeared on the scene. There is also room for belief that some high ranking officials knew what was going on and even if they did not order it, at least winked at it.

I seriously doubt that Jerry Mullican would have openly ordered his subordinates to collect money for the fund from gate fees if he had been given an indication that it would be looked upon harshly by those above him.

It is also hard to believe that if there had been an intent to defraud the state that the money would have been spent on minor repair and improvement of state property as appears to have been the case.

Anyway, it was a poor way to get things done. Such a hazardous fund cannot be audited. If the commission were on the ball it could establish a petty cash fund which could be audited and the park supervisor could be made to account for every penny of it.

I think the thing about the whole incident that angered me most was the executive director's remarks at the termination of our telephone interview.

"It's nothing of any earth-shaking consequence," he told me.

I say it is something of a great deal of consequence.

Three young people have black marks on their records and through no fault of their own. They carried out orders given them by a man who was placed here by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission of which J. R. Singleton is executive director.

I think Singleton owes these three a public apology and reinstatement in their jobs if they so desire.

.....Our World.....

BY ANN BROWN

The parents, or parent substitutes, are a child's first contact with authority. If the child does not learn to respect and obey his parents (and respect must be EARNED before obedience is likely to be secured), he will find it most difficult to respect and obey his teacher, the Law, or the ultimate authority: God.

As has been frequently noted, there is no juvenile delinquency problem among our Chinese Americans. Chinese allow nothing to interfere with their duties as parents. Consequently, the Chinese are usually law abiding, studious, and very religious.

As a rule a child grows up with the same devotion to his God that he gives to his parents. Love and certain creature comforts are essential to inspire love in a child, and to give him happiness; wealth is not.

The adult who was fortified with happiness in childhood can usually adjust to almost any environment that he is convinced cannot be changed. The unhappy child usually makes an unhappy adult regardless of the circumstances.

Many a fiercely protective young husband sees himself as a knight in shining armor: He has rescued his bride from the "dragon" (her parents). If, however, the girl really did have a cruel upbringing, she is most likely to simply transfer her misery from her parents' home to her husband's home. And even the best husband may give up in despair after years of his best efforts have failed to make his wife happy.

The daughter of a tyrannical father usually becomes a nagging, rebellious, bitter wife. She is prone to defy her husband and punish him in the manner she would like to have punished her father.

The son of a tyrannical mother is most likely to make a suspicious, brutal husband that few women can endure. He may give a good wife the beatings he would like to have given his cruel mother.

Whatever the case, society reaps the bitter fruit from the seed sown in the unloved, neglected, or battered child. The little victim usually begins his retaliation on toys, pets, and other children; then his teachers; and next he is in trouble with the law.

The tortured child may not be able to strike back at his brutal parents, but he can stomp old men, snatch old ladies' purses, and mug unwary pedestrians. He may not dare destroy his own miserable domicile, but he can vandalize a neighbor's home, or a school, or a church.

The rapist as a rule learned to hate women while he was still in his cradle.

The hopeless drug addicts and the chronic drunks are usually people whose earliest conception of the world was that it was a place too miserable and threatening to face unaided. And never having learned to trust their parents they cannot bring themselves to trust their Creator with their inadequacies.

The child whose person, property, and feelings were never respected, may take sadistic pleasure in inflicting pain on others.

Children learn to love by being loved. The unloved child may never acquire the capacity to love. And life without love is empty and meaningless.

However, because heredity also influences a child's behavior, not all battered children are hopeless. The same fire that melts the butter hardens the egg.

Therefore, since early impressions are so strong and so lasting, every parent should be aware of the sacred responsibility assumed when a child is brought into the world. Parents should endeavor to mold their children into adults capable of adding joy TO the world rather than those prone to take joy FROM the world.

Conservation Aspects Lauded

A good conservation plan is simply a record of the farmer's decisions concerning how he will use and treat his land after considering the alternatives with a Soil Conservation Service technician, said Don Dolle with the local SCS office.

"There is a need for every farm and ranch in the nation to provide a conservation and land use program fitted to the resources of each operating unit," Dolle said, quoting a basic policy adopted by the National Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts.

"As a matter of good business," Dolle continued, "a farmer can do a better job of farming with a conservation plan than without one. Piecemeal and uncoordinated conservation efforts cannot be fully effective. When each acre is protected according to its needs and used within its capabilities, the cost of production is reduced and per acre yields are normally increased."

With this objective in mind, the farmer and an SCS technician should be able to study a farming or ranching operation and do the following, Dolle explained.

They should (1) appraise the farm's soil, water and plant resources, (2) decide what are the farm's major problems, (3) decide what alternatives are needed to solve these problems, (4) decide on the one set of alternatives best suited to fit the farmer's goals, (5) record these decisions as a plan of action, and (6) start applying these plans as rapidly as feasible.

"As a result of the conservation plan," Dolle said, "some farms and ranches will find little or no noticeable changes while others will find a significant change in operation as well as ease of operation. When changes are made, the operator will usually find a significant increase in income."

In the Palo Duro SWCD, the contents of a conservation plan usually includes aerial photographs of the farm or ranch, soil survey of the unit, survey as to conditions of the rangeland, inventory of the forage produced, grazing plan developed with the forage inventory as a base, design of the irrigation system--to include underground pipeline, row direction, size of furrow stream necessary and the farmer's decisions as to practices needed.

Further information, Dolle said, as well as assistance, can be obtained by contacting the local SCS office for anyone interested in developing a conservation plan for his farm, ranch, wildlife or recreation unit.

Items Stolen In Burglaries

Reports of house burglaries at the Palisades and Lake Tanglewood were made to the Randall County Sheriff's Department last week.

George Mills, who lives in the Palisades, said someone broke the rear window of his house trailer and took items valued at about $120.

Mills said a 12-gauge shotgun in a black case, one portable clock radio, two axes and a hoe were missing.

Mrs. M. E. Wilkenson, a Lake Tanglewood resident, said two rings and a set of diamond clip earrings were taken from her home.

One of the rings, a diamond, was valued at $650 and a jade ring was valued at $25. The earrings were valued at $15.

At the elementary schools, Rex Reeves and Gene Howe, students will be registered on Thursday, August 29, with all students whose last names begin A through K registering between 8:30 a.m. and noon and students whose last names begin L through Z registering between 1 and 4 p.m. All students will register at their respective schools.

Students in the first six grades living in the following area will attend Gene Howe Elementary School and all others will enroll at Rex Reeves Elementary.

Attending Gene Howe Elementary School will be those students north of the Claude Highway to where the Claude Highway intersects Washington Street Road, then those living north of a line southwest from this point to the intersection of Western Avenue and McCormick Road, then those living north of a line from this point to where this line intersects the Canyon Expressway one mile south of Hollywood Road; then west to the west line of the Canyon Independent School District.

All elementary summer transfers to either school should contact the principal of the school which they will attend. Oscar Hinger is principal for Rex Reeves Elementary School in Canyon and Luther Lawless is principal for Gene Howe.

Elementary registration will be conducted by homeroom teachers in their classroom. Rosters listing students for that room will be posted on the doors of each room for convenience of parents and students. Lunchroom tickets, for both schools, will be available at $7 for 20 lunches or 35 cents per meal.

Elementary fees at Rex Reeves will be $3.25 for first grade; $3.50 for second grade; $4.25 for third grade; $2.50 for fourth grade; $3.25 for fifth grade; and $3.50 for sixth grade. The fees will include student activity, workbooks, etc. Students will also be furnished with a list of supplies to purchase locally.

Gene Howe elementary fees will be in the same general range and will be accepted on the first day of school.

First grade students at both Gene Howe and Rex Reeves Elementary School must furnish a birth certificate, doctor signed health statement showing proof of smallpox vaccination, etc.

Schedules have been changed for the dismissal of first grade students this year at both schools. First grade students will be dismissed at 1 p.m. until October 1 and then at 2 p.m. until November 1 and then for the remainder of the term will be dismissed at 3:05 p.m.

Umbarger School will register students August 30 and begin the first day of classes September 3. High school students from the Umbarger School will be transferred to the Canyon Public Schools. Mrs. Don Dolle will serve as principal of Umbarger School this year and will teach the seventh and eighth grades. Other instructors will be Mrs. Walter Cramer, fifth and sixth grades; Mrs. Robert Theusen, third and fourth grades; and Mrs. Jerry Johnson, first and second grades.

Happy Public Schools will have the first day of classes on September 2. New incoming students should pre-register at the school August 29-30. Other students were pre-registered this spring, according to Sam Bryan, superintendent. Others directing the school this fall will include Alvin Moudy, high school and junior high principal, and Vivian Wesley, elementary principal.

Texas Teenagers Learn At Camp For The Blind

Fifty Texas teenagers are spending 10 weeks of their summer vacation at the Texas School for the Blind learning to get around better in the world about them.

For some of the less mobile students, it means a summer of challenge--a breaking out of a shell of isolation. For the more independent students, it means another kind of challenge--a chance to discover just how well they can "make it"
on their own.

The unique program is designed to expand the personal independence of the students by emphasizing orientation and mobility, physical education and recreation, home economics, and efficient living skills and home mechanics.

Last fall, the parents of all junior and senior high school blind students in the state's public and private schools were polled to get their reaction to such a program. The response--quick and favorable-- resulted in a nearly evenly divided enrollment: 23 boys and 27 girls, including one set of triplets.

Students participating are from school districts in Aldine, Austin, Beaumont, Burton, Dallas, Dickinson, El Paso, Garland, the Houston area, Idalous, Katy, Leander, Lubbock, Midland, Pasadena, Pearland, the San Antonio area, Sherman and Waco.

The director of the project is Vincent Svaldi who, during the fall and spring semesters, is an instructional supervisor at the Texas School for the Blind. Cooperating in the summer project are the State Commission for the Blind; the Texas School for the Blind; the federal government, which financed the project; and the Texas Education Agency, whose representative is Miss Janie Fox, consultant for services to the blind in the Division of Special Education.

The project began the early part of June and ends with an all-day open house for parents and teachers on Friday, August 16.

Orientation and mobility are at the center of the program, and each student is given individual instruction in these skills. Initial instruction included teaching the student to use the senses fully to recognize surroundings.
When the student masters these abilities, he is taught the correct techniques and uses of the long cane for independent travel.
He not only learns to travel alone on the Texas School for the Blind campus but is taken to residential, small business, and downtown areas to learn how to apply his mobility skills in a variety of situations.

"No matter what they learn academically," explains Svaldi,
"their ability to get around within their environment will affect the degree of independence they will achieve. They may get a job; but if they can't get to and from work, how long can they hold a job?"

Before any structured, formal program began, the children were tested in all program areas to see what they could and could not do. From these tests, individual goals were established. Some students were a little apprehensive at the beginning about their abilities to perform previously untried activities. As a result of patient instruction and practice, new areas for exploration have opened in their lives.

On a typical day, the students tumble out of bed at 6 a.m. Before their bedtime, they put in a full day of activities ranging from a lively group discussion of what color combinations go well together to an evening of recreation at Austin bowling lanes.

"We've designed the program so that all the students take every course, even though some of the content is a little different," Svaldi explains. "For instance, the girls get into home economics more, such as learning to read recipes, whereas the boys learn to cook such simple things as bacon and eggs.

"The same thing is true of our efficient living skills course. We teach the girls how to apply their makeup, manicure their nails, and wash and set their hair. For the boys, we teach them how to polish their shoes, tie 4-inch and windsor knots in their ties, and how to shave themselves with safety and electric razors."

An interesting aspect of the program is the use of a mock house with a compact arrangement of rooms. "The house is being constructed in progressive stages," explains Bob Young, vocational coordinator,

"to teach the students about building materials and fixtures." "We aren't interested in making carpenters out of these kids," said Young, "but to show them how a house is built."

The model house is open on one side, exposing many of its features, so that the students can "see" by touch. Various materials, such as brick and siding on the exterior and panelling and tile on the interior, are used to demonstrate many types of construction.

Each student is tested in academic achievement, mental abilities, personality, and vocational interests.

"The end result," says Robert Winn, coordinator of psychological testing and counseling, "is that we are able to give the child certain basic information about himself, as

HIGH PLAINS CHILDREN'S HOME, supported by area Churches of Christ, is located northeast of Canyon in Randall County where the Ray Forehands are serving as "cottage parents". ### High Plains Children's Home

Former Canyon Residents Have "Large Family" Now

BY LORENA MILLER

A Canyon family has grown by leaps and bounds since January 1968 when the Ray Forehands moved with their three children to become cottage parents for the High Plains Children's Home.

Sponsored by area Churches of Christ, the home is located northeast of Canyon and south of the Amarillo city limits.

Conceived in 1964 by elders of various area churches, the idea was expanded that year and elders were selected from the South Lawn Church of Christ in Amarillo to serve as overseers for the project.

The first cottage on a 40-acre tract was completed and opened in August 1967 with Wayne and Kay Stephens as the first cottage parents serving four children.

Presently the main cottage has 14 children living there in addition to the Forehand's three children, Kelly, 11, Vicki, 9, and Kimberly, 3.

Since opening of the cottage, 59 children have been placed in the cottage at foster homes and in adoptive homes, according to Don Myers, social worker, with the group. The direction of the project is under the elders of the South Lawn Church of Christ with Pat Powell as supervisor and Myers and Nancy Neidhardt as social workers. Myers works primarily with the adoptions and Mrs. Neidhardt is with the foster home section.

Working with the cottage parents, the Forehands, formerly of Canyon, are a maid, Mozelle Barker, and Ted and Sandra Abbott, also of Canyon. The Abbotts fill in as cottage parents one week end each month and one day each week to give the Forehands time off to spend with their own children.

Funds for the project are contributed by area churches and it is estimated that between $100 and $125 is average care funds for each child involved.

The main cottage has nine bedrooms equipped with twin beds, five full baths (of which four are double-full baths), a kitchen with offsetting utility area and pantry, a large dining room with two large family-size dining tables, a main living room and a separate bedroom equipped for the cottage parents.

"Our children (those born to the Forehands) live in the same bedrooms and living area as all of the other children," said Forehand. "It is a great experience for all and all of the children nearly call us Mama and Daddy."

"We don't ask them to, but with the little ones especially it is important that they develop a family-like tie with the houseparents and other children so that they will grow up in the atmosphere which we are trying to create."

Children at the home range in age from 3-16 years and are all incorporated and treated like one "big happy family". "The cottage doesn't get too many of the pre-school children," said social worker Myers explaining that "the pre-school age generally go to the foster homes and for adoption."

"We do have a few pre-schoolers at the cottage, because they are referred to us and are in special need of a home setting," said Myers. "We have one now who was referred to the home-setting by a psychiatrist."

"Children coming to the home," stated Myers "are usually through the courts or the child welfare and individuals. Any child goes through court proceedings for the High Plains Children's Home to get legal custody of the child, especially in the cases of dependent and neglected children."

"We have even had a few instances," said the superintendent, Pat Powell, "where children are brought to our doorsteps by the parents themselves... saying here he is."

Some cases have all visitation rights removed from the parents by the courts, but in other instances the child may be allowed to visit with the parents for a brief period (week ends, 4 or 5 days, or during a vacation time on occasion). Some parents also come to the cottage for brief visits with their children occasionally.

"Creating the 'father image' for these children is a full time job," said Forehand explaining that many of the youngsters are from broken homes with no father.

"We try to keep the children together where possible, and our cottage-family-arrangement is intended to give these kids the feeling of home," said Forehand.

A former carpenter in Canyon for eight years, Forehand is presently renovating a 3-bedroom house, which was donated to the group. The house, which is located to the rear of the main cottage, is being rebuilt into a storage area and a recreation room for the children.

"We have future plans to expand the complex on this site to include ten more cottages and an administration building," said the supervisor.

"And we could probably fill about nine of those cottages within six weeks time," said Myers, the social worker. "In July during an eleven day period we turned away 31 which we could not accept due to space. We average about 30 per month on turn-away children."

Present facilities at the cottage also include playground equipment which consists of six swing-sets, various see-saws and slides, and 17 bicycles. Most of the playground equipment was donated by the Stinnett Church of Christ, according to Powell.

Schooling for the youngsters is varied with a total household of 17 children. Grade school ages (grades 1-6) attend school at the Amarillo Christian School while the junior high and high school age are transported by bus to the Canyon Public Schools.

"These kids are in as many extra-curricular activities as any other child would be," said Forehand, exclaiming that he is chief chauffeur.

"For instance this summer," Forehand related, "we had seven boys participating in the Little League and Babe Ruth baseball groups at Canyon. Sometimes we were at the ballpark from 3:30 or so straight through until the final game in order for all the boys to play."

"The girls and I came to a lot of the ballgames too," said Mrs. Forehand "but it was hard on some of the younger ones to be involved for such long periods of time and there at the last of the season we started staying home sometimes."

Transportation for the oversize family includes a Chevrolet transport bus, a 1960 model Ford station wagon, and a '54 Chevrolet which will be kept for the older boys and their "dating", according to Forehand. Forehand also related that "they are in need of a pickup."

The oversize family attends church regularly at South Lawn Church of Christ in Amarillo.

Chores around the "cottage home" are delegated by the week and each child is expected to participate in a portion of operating the home, according to Mrs. Forehand.

"The boys help out in the yard, gardening and watering, and the girls are in charge of the four double baths. All of the kids pitch in on their week with the supper dishes and removing the dishes from the tables after meals," said Mrs. Forehand.

The maid's duties include dishes, laundry and floors while Mrs. Forehand is the "chief cook".

"It is a great contrast to cook for a family of five and then to enlarge overnight into a family of nineteen, including adults," she said. "It takes longer to prepare--and more to fix too. Where I used to cook one chicken for a meal, I now fry four and it takes about an hour and a half."

Donated canned goods and staples are given by area Churches of Christ, however Mrs. Forehand also has a weekly shopping chore.

"I still have to buy fresh vegetables, paper products, potato chips, bread and all of the extras which go along with this size of family," she said. Beef is also donated to the home.

"The kids take a sack lunch to school most of the time," she related. "And school is a hectic time for breakfast too with this many youngsters wanting to know if they have clean socks, or where they laid their school books and lessons last night."

"As for getting up in the morning and off to bed at night," she said, "We have no more squabbles among the kids than a normal family would have."

A highlight of each day's activities is the evening devotional time as all of the youngsters are gathered together in the main living room for a devotional period of song, prayer and scripture reading.

"We usually just sit in a circle on the floor and furniture and visit for a few minutes in quiet devotion and thanks. The older children often prepare their own talks for the occasion."

"It takes a lot of hours to be Mama and Daddy to this many youngsters," the Forehands said with a quiet smile. "But it has been a good life for the past six months with our enlarged family--and we have taken pleasure in every day's activities."

diversion of some gate receipts to the petty cash fund and he began that phase of the investigation.

Harris is reported to have stood about a mile from the park gate and counted cars by keeping watch through field glasses.

Mrs. Bloeser, Wilson and Clayton all say they were questioned by Harris. They said they told him that on occasion they were instructed by Mullican to fail to issue receipts to a certain number of cars and to put the gate receipts received into the petty cash fund.

All three say they were at first told by Harris they were "in the clear."

Some of the money is reported to have been used for small repairs to park machinery, a small amount to buy drapes for the state-owned supervisor's home and some for refreshments for park employees.

Some money in the petty cash fund was obtained through sale of soft drink bottles picked up in the park by park employees. Park employees say this money normally was used to buy refreshments for employee parties.

Harris is reported to have ordered the smashing of about $42 worth of bottles.

Mrs. Bloeser said she was asked to resign Aug. 2 and at first refused. She said it was Harris, who previously had told her she was completely clear, who asked for her resignation. Harris then agreed to allow her 10 days annual leave if she would resign. Mrs. Bloeser reported.

"When he asked me, I told him that I took money from gate receipts and used it as petty cash and that Jerry Mullican had told me to," declared Mrs. Bloeser.

Mrs. Bloeser normally worked as a secretary and worked at the gate only about an hour at a time during emergencies.

Mrs. Bloeser explained the use of the petty cash fund. She said it would be difficult to operate the park without such a fund.

"We couldn't process a purchase order for less than $5," she explained. "When we would go to merchants for a 25 cent bolt we would either have to buy $5 worth or let our account with the merchant accumulate until it reached $5."

"We couldn't do that because the merchants want their money. Also, we were told that it cost the state about $17 to process a purchase order."

Mrs. Bloeser said Mullican had indicated that he had gotten sanction for the petty cash fund from Allums--an allegation which Allums denies.

"I think we were all done a great injustice," Mrs. Bloeser asserted.

Wilson said he was ordered by Mullican to fail to give receipts to park visitors and divert unrecipited cash to the petty cash fund only one time.

"I just did it once and that was this past Easter," explained Wilson, a 19-year-old West Texas State University student. "I think I handled $28 that way. I wasn't sure."

Wilson said he talked to his immediate superior at the park and to his father about the matter and was told that Mullican was the designated supervisor of the park and it would be necessary to obey his orders.

Wilson said he first was interviewed by Harris late last month and told the regional supervisor all he knew.

"He thanked me for my fine cooperation and said I was completely cleared," Wilson reported.

"Then on Aug. 1," Wilson

continued, "Mr. Singleton and Mr. Harris were there. Mr. Singleton said they were going to have to ask me to resign. He said what we had done was against the state law and that all the others would be asked to resign. He said that as far as he could tell we had all just used bad judgement. He said we should have called him or Mr. Harris."

"When it all happened I talked to Ray Keith who was park attendant three under Mr. Mullican at the time. He said Mr. Mullican had told me to do it and there wasn't anything to do but go ahead and do it."

Wilson began working at the park last summer and was a part time employee last winter, returning to full-time status during the current summer.

"I was fired," declared Clayton, who told about the same story as the other two as to handling of non-recipited gate funds and their diversion to petty cash. "I didn't get my resignation in time."

"I don't know what they were accusing me of. I never did find out," Clayton went on. "They had told me July 29 I was in the clear."

Clayton quoted Harris as having said he came out here to get Mullican's job or to get him to resign.

In the meantime in Austin, Singleton says the investigation is continuing.

Ivan Saddler presently is in charge of the park pending arrival of Raymond Mittel from Kerrville to become Park supervisor.

quirements as determined by a job analysis made by the teacher-coordinator in cooperation with the employer.

Class work is coordinated with the practical work experience the student receives in the office in which he is employed. Students under the VOE program must work a minimum of 15 hours a week in an approved office occupation.

The VOE program is for all seniors 16 years of age or older who have had one year of typing as a prerequisite.

Possible career objectives include bookkeeping, general office clerks, receptionists, file clerks, secretaries, payroll clerks and stenography.

In pointing the beneficial aspects of the program to businessmen, Mrs. McAlpin said that firms have an effective retention of graduating students and the students are fully trained when they graduate.

She also cited employing workers in a learning situation while they are at an age when they learn more rapidly, helping create a pool of experienced office workers for the community.

Mrs. McAlpin, who is a graduate of West Texas State University and has done graduate work at WTSU and Eastern New Mexico University, studied various aspects of the VOE program at a teachers' summer workshop in Houston during the early part of August.

plained. He said the widening of Third Avenue might help eliminate the congestion of traffic near the WTSU campus.

Traffic has been congested around the WTSU campus with students parking off-campus and City of Canyon officials approved the widening of Second, Third and Fifth Avenues last winter in the hope of eliminating the problem.

Traffic at time was reduced to one lane only on Third and Fifth Avenues.

As for the student housing, Dr. Carruth said the situation was not unusual to find no facilities available in WTSU residence halls by this time of the year.

"We have some new residence halls on the drawing board," the dean said, "but that will be two or three years before they are completed."

Capers Set Guest Nite
Canyon Capers Square Dance Club will have a "guest night" Monday, August 19, at the Junior Livestock Building.

Highlight of the session Monday will be a drawing for a pig. The group met last Monday evening and voted to conduct a bake sale at Bellah's Market Saturday, August 17.

The Capers will have a steak supper at 6 p.m. tonight, Thursday, at the Roy Reynolds ranch. Plates will be $1.50.

Five Clues to Drug Addiction

Many a parent has learned to their dismay that one of their children has become a drug addict. Usually by the time this information becomes known, it is because the child is in serious trouble as both a drug user and a criminal to procure his daily supply.

Look for these symptoms: 1) A good scholar becomes erratic for no apparent reason. 2) A shy child becomes talkative. 3) A truthful child starts telling lies and plays truant. 4) A healthy child loses weight and is unable to sleep. These characteristics indicate a possible, but not positive drug addiction.

Direct Distance Dialing

New Telephone Numbers And Toll-Free Calling To Amarillo Also Coming To Canyon

FAST, convenient Direct Distance Dialing ("DDD") and other telephone service improvements will be brought to Canyon telephone users this coming December.

DDD will enable you to dial your Long Distance station-to-station telephone calls direct, without calling the operator. It's fast, convenient, easy!

Toll-Free Dialing to Amarillo

At the same time, long distance charges will be eliminated on calls between Canyon and Amarillo, and you will dial Amarillo numbers direct, just like local calls. Amarillo residents will be able to call you in the same way.

This will make more than 93,000 telephones available to you in your local dialing area, making your telephone service more valuable to you than ever before.

All Numbers Will Change

At the time these changes are made, all telephone numbers here will be changed from two letters and five numerals to seven numerals.

The present prefix "OL 5" will become "655," but the last four digits of each number will not change. For example, "OL 5-2151" will become "655-2151."

The new numbers will not represent any change in dialing, since "OL 5" and "655" are dialed the same.

Canyon thus will join the ranks of many other cities in conforming to the new nationwide telephone numbering plan, which eventually will be uniform throughout the United States.

New Service Numbers

To help make DDD possible, it also will be necessary to change two telephone service numbers in December. The new number for Information will be "411," and for Telephone Repair Service, "4102."

WE are glad to bring Direct Distance Dialing and these other telephone improvements here. They will help to keep Canyon at the forefront of telephone progress.

About 600 area teachers and administrators participated in the 16th Annual Reading Conference which concluded last Thursday at West Texas State University.

The conference was sponsored at WTSU by the Texas Association for Improvement of Reading and the WT education and psychology department.

State officials of TAIR also attended the sessions. Main speakers were Dr. Doris K. Ed-dins, professor of education at State University College at Buffalo, New York, and Dr. William R. Powell, associate professor of elementary education and director of the Center of Reading Research and Instruction at the University of Illinois.

The three-day conference was divided into section meetings for primary, intermediate, junior high and senior high groups.

CANYON HIGH SCHOOL coaches for 1968-69 Mires, Willie McAlpin, Dunne Goode and Bob are, left, Jim Williams, B. B. Kendricks, Clark Schneider.

Eagles To Use Platoon System

Canyon High School's Eagle football team will use the platoon system this year for the first time and Coach Dunne Goode says his charges will deploy from a T formation utilizing a split end.

The Eagles will play a 4-3 defense.

"We will have 22 varsity starters this year," said Goode who is beginning his first year as Canyon High School athletic director and football coach.

Goode played halfback for Hardin Simmons University where he was the second leading ground gainer in the US in 1951. He coached and played for the Air Force during his service years from 1952 until 1956. He was assistant coach at Canadian from 1956 until 1960 and then returned to his alma mater as an assistant coach.

The next year saw him at Lefors and then in 1964 he moved to Taft where he coached the AA Taft team for a year. He won bi-district honors with his Lefors team in 1962.

He went to Beeville in 1965 as an AAA coach. He was coach and athletic director at Beeville at the time he was hired last spring by the Canyon system.

Back in 1960 he was a scout for the San Francisco Forty-Niner pro team.

Five coaches will assist Goode with high school athletics. They include Willie McAlpin, Jim Williams, Clark Mires, Bobbie Snyder and B. B. Kendricks.

McAlpin attended Howard Payne College on a football scholarship. His home is at Spur. He played defensive linebacker with Howard Payne. After college he coached at Muleshoe and at Beeville. He has been associated with three district champions.

McAlpin will be in charge of the Eagle defense.

Williams will be offense line coach. He was reared at Plains and attended Central State College in Oklahoma and Hardin Simmons University.

He was an all-state football player at Plains High School and made all-American as a high school football player.

He coached at Floresville and then at Beeville. His team won a district championship in basketball at Beeville.

At Central State he was an all-conference defensive half-back and also made all-conference in basketball.

Mires hometown is Lamesa where he played both basketball and football. He is a graduate of West Texas State University. During his high school days he made all-district end with the Lamesa team.

For the past four years he has been a varsity assistant for the Dalhart Wolves, the winningest team in Texas. He will be a sophomore coach this season for CHS.

Snyder is also a WTSU graduate. He attended high school at Darrrouzett. He coached four years at Clayton, N.M., and two years at McLean before coming to Canyon two years ago.

Last year his CHS girls team won the district championship. Snyder will be sophomore football coach for CHS this year.

Kendricks will also be a junior varsity coach this year.

He attended Alamo Heights High School in San Antonio and then went to Wayland College at Plainview on a basketball scholarship. He has been a freshman coach here for the past three years but this year will be a sophomore coach.

Coach Goode is optimistic about Eagle prospects this year.

"The kids we've been around have good strength and good speed," he declared. "We're real pleased with the attitude they have and I think they have the ability to perform well."

Goode already has a rough idea of how his teams will be shaping up.

At quarterback on the offense will be Max Bosley, Lon Conners and Mike Stevens. Guards include Gary Schrib, Fred Wilson and George Sims. Offense tackles are Tim Vanvalkenberg, Mike Bull and Lonnie Moore.

Offense ends include Pat Hickman, John Burrell, David Ray, Andy Snyder and Jack Thrasher. Offense centers include Chris Hull and Richard Thompson.

Running backs are Pokey Haines, Stan LaGrone and David Thompson. Slot backs are Doug Hooper and David Erwin.

Playing middle guard on the defense will be Smiley Burnett, Jose Martinez, Mike Duden-hoffer and Richard Podzemny.

Defensive left tackles will be Craig Parker and Mike Tension. Defensive linebackers are Jim McBroon, Tom Tucker, Mike Wood and Larry Robinson.

Students At ROTC Camp

Two West Texas State University students from Canyon are attending an Army Reserve Officers' Training Corps summer camp at Fort Sill in Oklahoma.

Randy Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Brown, and John S. Brandon, son of Mrs. L. F. Brandon, are receiving six weeks of training in leadership, rifle marksmanship, physical conditioning and other military subjects.

Brandon is a member of Kappa Alpha and Phi Mu Alpha fraternities.

Fishing Good At Lake Refuge

Fishing at Buffalo Lake National Wildlife Refuge this month has been good in some species, according to Manager Paul Ferguson.

Ferguson said channel catfishing had been "steady" and a few bass, crappie and blue gill have been caught.

One fisherman reportedly caught a channel catfish weighing six pounds, Ferguson said, but added average size was between one and two pounds.

Although the Lake is low on water, Ferguson said water temperature was cooler than was generally expected.

He said about 50,000 black bass fingerlings were stocked into the lake recently by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission crews to increase fish population at the national wildlife refuge.

"Sports are seasonal and this month we are laying plans for the greatest season ever with the Eagles," she said with a smile. "I think the boys whom I have met show good prospects for the coming season."

"Of course," Mrs. Goode said, "we begin each season with the idea that this year we will go as high as the state championship."

A native of Pampa, the former Betty Greene attended her first football game at the age of five months in a snowstorm. The game was between the Pampa Harvesters and the Amarillo Sandies.

Mrs. Goode said that she was reared around football and sports as her father, Bill Greene of Pampa, is a former gridster for the Pampa Harvesters and two of her brothers also played on Harvesters teams while she was at home.

Her sister, Mrs. Stanley McDonough, lives in Canyon where her husband is game warden. Mrs. Goode's three brothers include Dick, who is an architect in California, and Jim and 'Hunky' who both farm and ranch at Pampa. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Greene, also farm and ranch in the Pampa area.

After graduation from Pampa High School, Mrs. Goode attended Hardin Simmons University in Abilene for two years. While at Hardin-Simmons she met 'Dunne' and the couple was married in 1949.

While her husband completed his degree at HSU, Mrs. Goode was employed as bookkeeping and clerical help in Abilene. He earned the B. A. in physical education from HSU in 1952 and received "two drafts", according to his wife.

"He received a draft notice from the Redskins professional football team and from the United States military both about then," she laughed explaining that he entered the Air Force for four years and returned to Texas as assistant coach for Canadian High School. The couple then became dealers of sporting goods for a three year period in Andrews, where they operated the "Sports Den".

"Dunne then became the freshman football coach at Hardin Simmons for one year," said Mrs. Goode. "We have since been in Lefors for three years, Taft (near Corpus Christi) for a year and at Beeville for three years."

The Goodes came to Canyon in May 1968. They are residing at 1214 Ninth Avenue and attend the First Presbyterian Church here.

"Coaches wives have a close association and kindred feeling toward athletics in general," Mrs. Goode related. "We usually have several carloads of coaches' wives attend most of the out-of-town games together and we meet for coffee sessions and visiting often."

"I love all of the different sports," she commented. "Of course right now it is football time--but when basketball season arrives I will have an enthusiasm for that sport also and for track and baseball too in their own seasons."

"I tried my luck at playing ball while a high school student and found that it was best for me to be just a spectator," she said.
